ACT 3 Classes

ACT 4 Organizations

ACT 5 Sports

ACT 6 School Life

*The action
takes place here*

The name of the school is Washington High, Milwaukee, Wisconsin—right on Sherman Boulevard: longitude 87 degrees, 56 minutes West; latitude: 43 degrees, 3 minutes North. The book shows a cross section of our school life.

That picture of our school to the left shows only four wards (or stories); but there are really five, besides the green house and the music room we call our penthouse. There is a door on the north, too, you can't see.

The city block just north of our school is our athletic field. That's where all our champion football and track teams work out.

Around in the back we park our bikes—some 400 of them. All those who can get their dads to let 'em have the family car every now and then and those lucky ones who have their own fill up all the spaces around school marked off with yellow paint.

But let's get on with the show, now.

Look out! Here come our dashmen, warming up for that record sprint. Near by the long arm of the law is reminding citizens that "You Can't Take It With You"
But you musn't loiter, folks
Come on in and find your seats. It's about time for the first Act

Washington High School

— it life around our school, v' know what I mean, whether you peek in on the daily routine of the workshops or attend a meeting at the "Opera House." You can't to watch a young lady taking a speed test—you won't make her nervous; or investigate how a voice can be served up on plate. There go the "high and mighties" into their pow-wow to settle life's problems

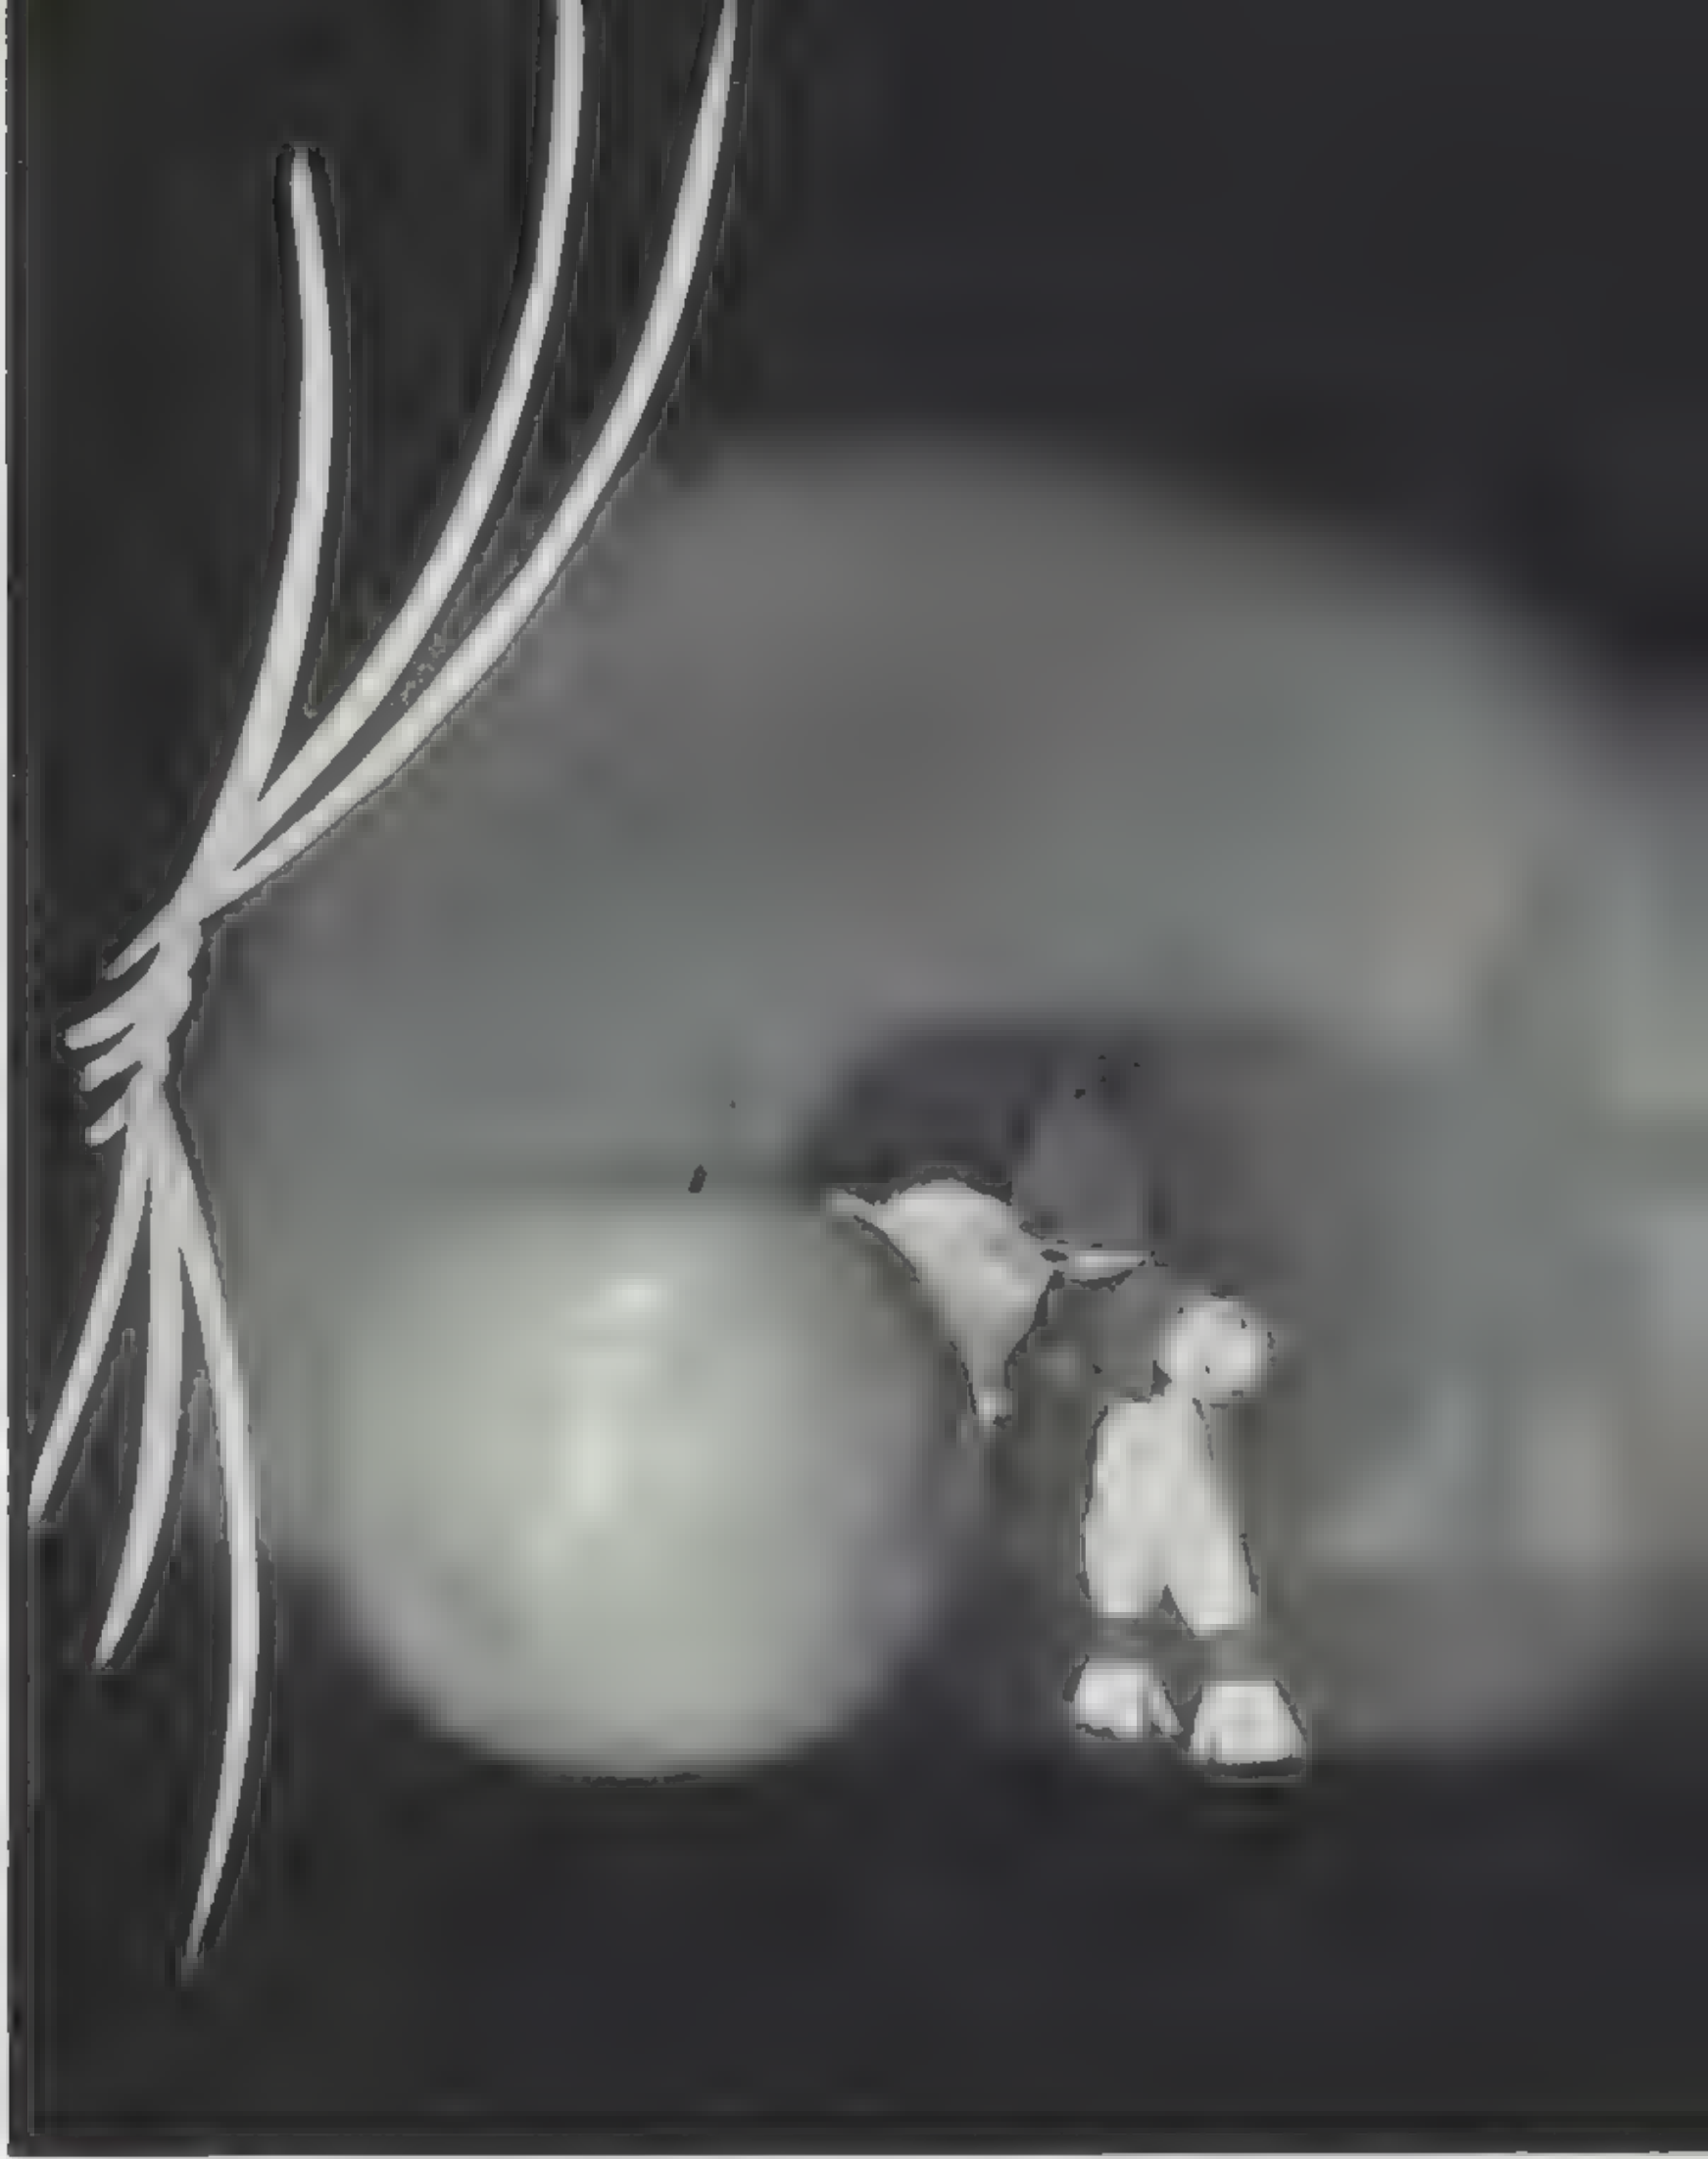

First of all, folks, I'd like to introduce to you Timotheus Georgius Vasingto, our mascot. He's usually here on the stage right in the midst of things. The stage crew have to watch carefully that he doesn't steal the show. Timmie, we've caught you in the act this time. Don't you know that the students don't need to polish the apple at our School? . . . The administration here is in the hands of the faculty, who are a combination of our information and guidance bureaus.

The students are mighty fond of the faculty in spite of the ninth hours and all the homework. You've got to keep stepping to live in Our School, but it does everybody good. . . . In addition to classes, the teachers sponsor all the outside activities; so after three years everybody gets pretty well acquainted.

Whether we look upon them as the aldermen, magistrates, guardians, or what have you, the Washington faculty does turn out the goods.

GEORGE J. BAZLER, Principal

Our School is like a small town. Each floor is a ward with rows of residences and workshops along its streets. In the Second Ward we have our civic center with the City Hall, Library and Public Service departments, Opera House, and Jail.

Four of our five warehouses are in the Second Ward, too. (Our study halls are called warehouses because that's where the citizens go in and load up. Along the main thoroughfare dividing the various wards you will find the Museum, which houses our trophies.

Our Production Managers

The City Hall right across from the Opera House is the center of every thing in Our School. There the city clerks are busy working under the direction of Mayor Balzer. The Post Office is there, too. Mayor Balzer is really chief, executor, legislator, and judiciary all in one. (We're also calling him our production manager, as on the stage, you know.) In the inner office is his bench. He doesn't sit there, but the citizens do. The only bench he sits on is the one on the football field. . . . Our Mavor couldn't do all the administrative work in Our School; so the aldermen do their part along with supervising the workshops. Mr. Burling helps, too. He's a mighty important man around Our School, because he's Mr. Balzer's right-hand man. The City Hall has branches in the First Ward, and Mr. Burling as circuit judge holds his court there. Come to think of it, he's also warden of our jail. Next door to his office sits the Common Council. Across the street is the Second Hand Store, and farther down in one direction is our factory section and in the other direction our business district and General Store. . . . Below the First Ward in the lower section of Our School are the playgrounds and the cafes. . . . Farther uptown at the north end of the Third Ward is our hospital. Also in the Third Ward is our branch library of fiction books. . . . The buildings along the Fourth Ward to the south are known as our research labs. The other half of the Fourth Ward is our cultural center, where the artists and musicians make their headquarters. The main Art Gallery is there, but of course there are branches on other streets. And way down at the end of the street are the Model Homes and Fashion Colony. Above all this, the Penthouse Music Hall is the crowning glory of Our School.

In Memory Of

In the passing of Mr. Ralph Blair, our school has lost a fine teacher and kindly adviser. During the many years he was a member of our faculty, the students with whom he came in contact grew to recognize him as a friend; while the few who did not know him so well esteemed him as one who gave freely of his services to Our School. . . . In 1916 Mr. Blair came to Washington from Michigan. Here for a long time he directed the business staffs of the bi-weekly Scroll and the Annual. He was also chairman of the commercial department. Mr. Blair's activities in these capacities were succeeded by his appointment as head of the cafeteria. Along with this position he supervised the candy and cold-lunch counters. His further time was spent as adviser of the summer-school graduates. . . . Mr. Blair will always be remembered for his personality, which won for him many friends, and for his ever-present, sparkling humor. The time he spent working for Our School is evidenced by the things he accomplished.

And Now The

It won't be long until we have graduation at Our School again. The seniors are getting a little excited. That's natural, though. Every Saturday the girls have been buying dresses or helping their moms to make them. . . . Oh my! Timmie, watch out; those are senior diplomas; you musn't play with them. . . . The Old Timers'll leave a big gap when they've moved out, and we'll miss them, but the "To Let" signs will be pulled down early next fall when the newcomers move in. . . . You are about to meet our February and June graduates one by one and see the things they've been doing around this place. Their fingers have been in all the pies. It's given them lots of good, practical experience; and they've learned the meanings of "capability" and "dependability." Of course, they've been on the Common Council and held positions in every cabinet, along with serving on the police force. We like to remember them for their social prominence, too; the senior play, the two senior skits, and the Proms. . . . Goodness, Timmie, we must get these diplomas lined up. It's almost time for graduation; here come the seniors, now.

The Up-and-Coming

Now, folks, you are about to witness the third act of this production. Here we pride ourselves on featuring every student in school, except the seniors, whom you've already met individually. Weren't those grand close-ups we gave you? . . . Those books on the stage have been left by the seniors to lure sophomores and juniors to explore their pages. Timmie seems over-anxious to take a peak. Happy little fellow, isn't he? He never seems worried over any problem. Well, the rest of the students shouldn't be, either, because in our school, students don't hesitate about coming to someone for counsel; there's always an experienced adviser ready, willing, and able to help each one out of his difficulty. Yes, all the way from "Wonder whether I should close that window in (Warehouse) A?" to the serious problem "What if I fail?" . . . The sophomores, our up-and-coming generation, are really given a helping hand in their first year. It isn't easy to get acquainted and acquire the "knack" of finding one's way in a large school such as ours—this is the first task of the advisor: to arrange the programs and study plans. Why, the sophs patterned clocks and took them home to their parents for approval; those clocks certainly develop good study habits. The juniors now are in the steadiest routine of work and pretty well settled in our social life; but still in need of advice now and then. And the seniors, well, they have their individual consultations with Mayor Balzer and get his approval of their programs. . . . We are introducing the students to you by sponsor groups, for that's the way they come to us up here. No student will forget the familiar voice of Mr. Balzer, "The sponsor groups will meet today. Semester Three, Four, Five and Six will meet their advisors in the regular rooms. February '41 seniors will study in A, B, 210, 220; and the June '41 seniors will come to the auditorium." Yes, those meetings come often. This satisfied feeling that the teachers are pulling with the students makes the three years in our school so much more enjoyable and pleasant to everybody. Tim, you really should have an advisor.

Well, folks, in this act you will learn of the social life of our school. . . . Timothy, watch out for that water glass; what makes you think you have the necessary diplomacy to preside over an organization? Mischievous, isn't he? . . . As I was about to say, the primary purpose of these clubs is to develop and promote leadership and self-discipline. This aids the citizens of our school to look forward to a pleasant community life in our town. But you know, folks, in order to bring about interest in extra-curricular activities, there must be interesting variations, and an entertaining manner of presenting the organizations' worth. . . . Variation we have! Entertainment, too! What would make the science clubs so important except for their modern outlook on up-and-coming inventions; or the music organizations without well-known classics and ultra-modern swing? We have public speaking, too! In fact, three clubs vie for top honors at Intersociety . . . our annual tri-tilt. Why, there are cars parked for blocks and blocks, this event is so popular. . . . Speaking of outstanding events, the Washington Players' major production, "You Can't Take It With You" certainly drew a crowd both nights. Timmie's glad he didn't miss it; aren't you, fellow? It merited everyone's presence. . . . When Mayor Balzer announces another new, different Camera Club exhibit, you should see the students' attendance in Room 123. They just walk down the aisles and view some of the best prints of the year. . . . There are language quarters to visit, too! Latin, French, Spanish, and German — Willst Du Nicht? . . . However, we also have some nationally and internationally recognized clubs which demand real superiority in service and skill for membership . . . these are Quill and Scroll for super journalists and The National Honor Society for only top students. These organizations are the goal of many of our students. . . . But, goodness, why should I keep on talking? You just visit them and see for yourself.

"Phi Beta Kappas"

Goodness, Timmie, straighten that cap and brush your suit; don't you realize we're scheduled to visit the nationally recognized National Honor Society? Just as our town has a select few who merit the highest ranks in the eyes of its citizens, so in our school we have those students who, after working hard at their studies and rendering service to our school, gain the highest award given to a high school graduate: election to the National Honor Society. . . . And, Timmie, the qualifications are stiff. He who has the privilege of wearing this organization's symbol must have an unquestionable character. Also he must have contributed invaluable service to the school, by leading one of the various clubs as well as performing some kind of student service. . . .

Yes, and with this fine record, he must have a scholastic average of eighty-five or above for the three years in our school. The National Honor symbol is a challenge to all high school students, a goal toward which many are working. . . . As the select few who have merited this honor march down the aisle bearing this burning torch, may it kindle in the hearts of others a desire to make the most of the time at hand and attain higher goals in our school. . . . Perhaps the long dreamed of world peace may be hastened by these honor students of today, when tomorrow they assume the duties of leaders, and meet their friends who are linked to them by the time-honored symbol of National Honor.

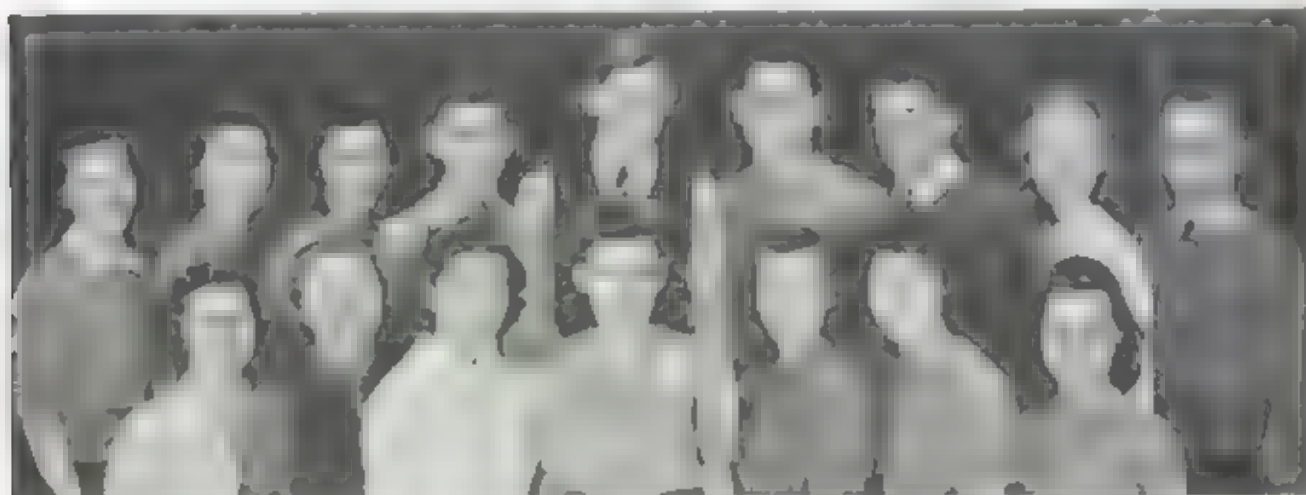

A lot of the citizens in Our School are connected with the Scroll Weekly or the Yearbook. They spend precious time and effort working on either the business staffs or the literary staffs, and each year the cream of the crop receives membership in Washington's chapter of Quill and Scroll. Besides high journalistic qualifications, the candidates must also have superior character traits and be in the upper third of their class. No wonder they're so proud of the honor, because this is an international journalistic society and Washington has a charter chapter. . . . This year there were 37 new members: 13 for the first term and 24 for the second. . . . When it came time to initiate the candidates in January, all the school journalists got together at a cocoa (it really wasn't tea). This year, as always, they had a memorable time. In fact, I don't think you can ever forget one of those impressive initiations with the candle-lighting ceremony and the oath administered by Mr. Balzer. . . . On May 23 the annual Quill and Scroll banquet was held. That was a gala affair with so many of the alumni present. Timmie certainly enjoyed himself. The dinner and singing of the Scroll loyalty song interested him most, but the attention he paid to the informal skit was amazing. The outgoing and incoming editors of the Scroll Weekly and Yearbook were true representations of the Webbs and the Gibbs of Our Town. The banquet was a perfect closing for the work of the year. Congratulations to our our honor journalists!

A production of Our School would not be complete if it did not give space to something about this Yearbook. All the units of the staff—copy, proof, sports, classes, organizations, art, photography, typing—worked together to make this year's book one never to be forgotten. Because of their clever ideas Our School is seen in a different light: our faculty and other functioning bodies seem more familiar to us. The theme, with due apologies to Thornton Wilder, is a parody on Our Town: the senior class skit being "Our Class," and the yearbook and yearbook skit "Our School."

All the hard work can be detected, too. . . . As always, the production includes in its cast every member of Our School; the seniors, of course, are introduced individually. This presentation is, therefore, one which permanently records happy occasions and events of work and pleasure to refreshen memories. . . . The staff of editors and their assistants look back upon the year of work upon this production as one filled with good times through working together, heightened by the anticipation of the success of their labors.

In the Third Ward to the north is the Scroll Office. Timmie can tell you all about that. His curiosity got the better of him when he saw several citizens get slips that looked alike; so he followed one of them and landed at the bronze sign that says "SCROLL." . . . A visit to that building is mighty enlightening: it sort of takes you behind scenes. Under Mr. Bannister's watchful eye, Virginia Zutavern, business manager, saw that things ran smoothly. The staff worked hard at getting payments from the subscribers regularly. To accomplish this, they issued four clever reminders and even interviewed some of the citizens.

(My goodness, Timmie, did they manage to get that $1.35 from you?) . . . The publicity department claims the credit for boosting the subscriptions 'way up to some 1,700—a record! We must compliment this staff on the excellent publicity they gave this publication in the form of posters and a skit, consisting of twin-clown curtain-raisers and movies of Our School. Kenneth Paape starred as film commentator in the narrative which he wrote with the assistance of Barbara Winter and Marjorie Redeen. . . . A fine year, this!

Timmie is going to inspect the Weekly Business Staff next; let's follow him into the Scroll office. There he is, looking over a pile of records bigger than himself. That's right. This year the subscription campaign broke the 1937 record with 2,061 subscribers! Now you can appreciate the job it must have been for circulating manager, Richard Novotny, to deliver papers to homerooms each Wednesday so there'd be "a Scroll in every home" that night. . . . Timothy's finding out that the staff does other things besides handling the distribution of our weekly paper.

It has to take care of collecting subscriptions and making time-payments possible. It also manages advertising angles. Oh my! Our little mascot has just come upon another noteworthy fact. Last summer Edgar Buth, advertising manager, broke every existing record of solicited ads. Instead of an appointed manager for the second semester, three people tried their hands on several issues; the next year one will be selected to step into Edgar Buth's shoes. . . . Let's include our thanks with Tim's for the ideal service the Weekly Business Staff has given us.

Take off your hat now, Timothy. We're going to meet the Intersociety Champions. Didn't they make a fine rating in the contest? You know they sold almost half the tickets, too. Some spirit, that! Their team in B proved "The giving of trading stamps with any purchase should be prohibited," while the team in A proved stamps shouldn't be prohibited. How come? William Wendt came first with his oration, "What Youth Seeks Today Is Security," and Floryann Weissenborn, with her reading, "Inja."

The bi-weekly meeting tested Alph's ingenuity in clever programs: "American Youth," "Alphanea: Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow." The Christmas meeting settled the problem, "Is There a Santa Claus?" Yes, they should have consulted you about that, Tim. You knew there was one all the time. But you didn't know about the mixer, where the seniors displayed their talents for the last time and received their awards. I can see you're sufficiently impressed. So let's go on.

Alphanea Forum

And here's Philo, Timmie. Yes, and she's just completed another successful year under the fine leadership of Jay Joslyn and Robert Siekert. . . . Headlining the meetings were the debates, symposiums, and panel discussions on various topics, ranging from compulsory military training to whether men are no less curious than women. You may be sure every member was urged to state his ideas in the Open Forum. This practice helped the Philomatheans a great deal in debating and extemporaneous speaking.

During the fall semester, members wrote and directed radio skits. Their spring programs featured the interclass contests in debating, reading, extemporaneous speaking and orating. Group choral readings also were popular. . . . And fun! At the beginning and end of each semester mixers were held for the two-fold purpose of getting acquainted and practicing the art of sociability. Active seniors realized their long-cherished goals by being awarded Philo honor pins at the end of each semester—the juniors are waiting, while the sophomores gape.

Lincoln Forum

President Lincoln was a great man, wasn't he, Timmie? And right here in Our School we have a great club named after him, the Lincoln Forensic Club. . . . This past year has been momentous in many ways. The club celebrated its fifteenth anniversary on Abe Lincoln's birthday—Miss Evelyn Purdy wrote the lyrics for a loyalty song. On the Inter-society program Lincoln saw its orators, Marshall Rotter and William Spankus, and its readers, Charline Juergens and Lucille Ratke, place first.

The meetings have been especially interesting, usually including a debate, a reading, and some novelty act. The Lincolnites are a friendly group, with a fine bunch of capable officers, too. It is in clubs such as Lincoln that one obtains poise and a true sense of loyalty. Just listen to the spirit with which they are singing their song. . . . But come, Timmie, we must be going now if we are to keep our appointment with the members of the TOWN FORUM.

The annual forensic contests that came just before the flowers in spring were another event that caused much excitement around school. 'Tonians, bubbling over with their own eloquence, were ever eager to read or orate to any willing ear, besides spending many hours in private rehearsals. "Practice makes perfect"; the Forensic Class had continual opportunities to practice. Everyone felt responsible for making friendly suggestions; and faculty critic, Mr. Howard Maule, was always on hand to offer helpful criticism.

Besides the tilt at school, Washington's speakers were heard at clinics and contests outside of Milwaukee. At the National Forensic District Tournament, seven participants qualified for semi-finals and four for finals! Weren't we proud of Don Rathman, who won second place in original oratory? And also of John Holton, who rated an A, and Caroline Nelson, a B, in the State contests? . . . Now wouldn't you like to see these students at work? Perhaps we'll be privileged to hear a winning oration or reading. Why not?

Where do you suppose I just found Timothy? At a meeting of the Latinates of our School. Latin never seemed to be along his line, but he and Society Latin certainly seemed to hit it off pretty well. From now on his name will be Timotheus. . . . But, you know, it's no wonder he had such a good time; because I hear their get-togethers are always novel and interesting. (That's because the members are exceptional in their cooperation. (I guess you have to be exceptional, though, to enjoy Latin, don't you?) . . . You might be interested to know just exactly what this group did this year. During the first semester the cabinet aided by Mr. Johnson tried some new features. At every meeting excerpts were read from the diary of a fictitious Roman girl. The programs for some of the meetings were conducted like popular radio broadcasts, such as, "Information Please," and "Take It Or Leave It." All the meetings of the second term were conducted as radio programs. There isn't time to tell you everything that's been done this year, but I must tell you that there were two mixers that were really tops.

Latin Quarter

Spanish Quarter

And now, let's call at the Spanish Quarters. Remember, Timothy, refrain from using your interpretation of Spanish in their presence—they can't understand you, anyway. . . . I do hope we'll see another contest; it's so exciting to watch the members participating and receiving the prizes. Maybe we'll see another Spanish word-pairing game, musical quiz, or Spanish spell-down. Timmie, do you remember the song contest with names of popular songs in Spanish, and that quiz with boys against the girls? . . . Generally, though, the programs aren't utilized to sharpen wits. The members hear talks on things strictly Spanish—cities, nations, bullfighting, matadors and all, and other sports. . . . With the talents of their group they produced a Spanish play. That was an entertaining demonstration of the La Conga by Cyril Tilsen and Sharley Goodman. They certainly thrilled the audience. . . . What was that, Timmie? There isn't a meeting today! That's right, this isn't a first or third Monday in the month, is it?

Come on, Timmie! Let's tack up our troubles and trot off to the French quarters. Don't turn away, folks; you're invited to come along, but you'd better brush up on your French—customs as well as language. No fair, Timmie; put that French dictionary away, and I'll tell you all I know about our French Club. When you're in this little French Quarter, you'll have to follow the French customs. During the past year they've had a lot of different programs.

One of the plays in the French language was "Le Bourgeois Gentilhomme" by Molière, or to you who don't know French, "The Citizen Turned Gentleman." Besides holding all kinds of contests and quizzes, they featured French songs at their meetings. You may not have heard, but—to satisfy the dancing members of the quarter, during the last two semesters they got a hold of a victrola, and played French classical and popular pieces. Hmm, there must be jitter-bugs in France, too.

You should have heard the talk Mrs. Charles Pedro gave on "Paris." Why, I left that meeting feeling as if I knew more about Paris than I do about our own little town. Then, to top the year's activities, to add sugar to the somewhat routine school life, the linguists combined in the celebration of a gala holiday, a festival of joy, the "Linguists' Lark." In addition to this—all right, Timmie, I'll stop talking; but you'll have to start trot'ng so we can see the rest of "Our Town."

French Quarter

And now, for the fourth of our language groups, we'd like to acquaint you with our German Club. If you want to get in touch with that jolly spirit of old-fashioned Gemuetlichkeit, just look in 112 when the members of our German Quarter get together. Hand in hand with becoming acquainted with German customs and men of note, the members really become acquainted among themselves, and each meeting provides a real funfest for all of our Herren and Fraulein.

German Quarter

In the first semester, following the theme of German men of music, our Teutons were carried back to the gay, waltzing Vienna of Johann Strauss and the quaint, romantic towns of Beethoven and Wagner. . . . The theme of the second semester was the social life of the German people. In the program on German foods, for instance, actual samples of bratwurst and kaffekuchen were served to the delight of those present. (By the way, Timmie, don't think we didn't see you nibbling on the leftovers long after the other members had gone!) .

And you've probably been wondering about the German style show. Well, the club was fascinated by colorful pictures of flowered dirndls, huge shawls, and other picturesque German fashions. . . . And so, that's our German Club. It's a mixture of fun and learning, with generous portions of friendliness and good-fellowship thrown in. Our good townspeople about to leave, will carry with them many pleasant memories of the meetings in our German Quarter. Auf Wiedersehen!

Opera House Stage Hands

Y'know, Timmie, behind the scenes of these big stage shows and morning skits we 'Tonians view with so much down right pleasure, there's always a story . . . a story of hard, long hours of honest labor by the stage crew people; hours of planning each set so a suitable background is obtained for each production; hours of painting scenery and carting it around into the proper position; hours of manipulating the complicated switchboard to get the best possible lighting effect. And please don't forget the morning after the play before, when there is plenty of clean-up work for the novice set-designers. . . . So you see, Timmie, our stage crew deserves a lot of credit for their competent work outside the limelight, and anyone who saw the operetta last fall and the recent senior play will certainly be generous in his praise.

Ushers are a necessity in a big school auditorium such as ours; so, way back in 1922 the order of ushers was founded under the capable direction of the late Mr. Harvey Drake; and ever since that time such stalwart citizens have given valuable service to our school. . . . They certainly look well when they're all rigged up in their shiny, brisk-looking uniforms; don't they, Timmie? They're always on the alert, too. None of Washington's numerous visitors are left to wait wistfully in the aisle, seatless. No, sir, our ushers are wide awake and helpful and will promptly escort the visitor to a convenient seat. . . . And our ushers are so polite! They must have taken personal lessons from Emily Post. All in all, Timmie, don't you agree that our ushers are a fine corps of boys?

Sh, Timmie. You are entering the auditorium, the sacred sanctum of our Little Theater Group. The members of the club are still talking in awed whispers of the hit they made with the Senior Play, You Can't Take It With You. Under the tireless direction of Miss Marion Meyer and her student coaches, Elaine Smuckler and Alice Schmidt, the cast practiced many long hours both day and night. Do you wonder the play was excellent?

The Washington Players are also proud of their workshop plays, one of the finest of these being the radio presentation of Brother Orchid. After every play presented by the amateurs at one of their bi-weekly meetings, the audience offered friendly suggestions and criticisms on the presentation of the skit. . . . But the Stage Manager is motioning for us to leave the auditorium. The lights are turning low, as we bid a reluctant farewell to the Thespians and journey on through Washingtonia.

Work nights?—they are the nights a member may work on a particular project of his liking. You might call the alternating week of club meetings "special work week," for on Monday of this week those interested in painting and sketching come; Tuesday's for crafts; Wednesday, dress designing; Thursday, commercial art; and Friday, hobbies. . . . The club went on tours through the Art Institute and W.P.A. Handicraft Project. The members were also instructed on industrial designing by Mr. Richard Lippold and on the composition of pictures by an experienced artist from the Museum, Mr. Keith Gebhardt. At other programs the club designed patriotic tokens and discussed the lives of famous artists. And so the Art Club has ended a very successful year.

Would you believe it—Timmie has a cultural side? Anyway, he is extremely interested in the Art Club—but then who isn't? Just seeing those lively membership cards designed by Edward Erdman or the program pamphlet covers by Marvin Abrams makes one take notice. However, the programs themselves are even more interesting. It seems that novelty contests were used as a stimulant for the active participation of the members. To make the original pipestem-cleaner mascot or the most novel necklace or bracelet from scraps of old material required real ingenuity. Shirley Bensman and Leo Perry won the charcoal-sketching contest. . . . Prizes were also awarded for the best project made during work nights.

Clics to the right of you, clics to the left of you; and you know you are on a Camera Club hike. Yes, many times during the past year eager students, each equipped with "lunch, camera, and car fare," have assembled before Washington's north entrance at nine o'clock on a Saturday morning to go on one of those interesting and instructive hikes to the beautiful parks of the city and the surrounding country. . . . During their meetings, the members were delightfully taught by outside speakers, who discussed various phases of photography. The club's own critic, Mr. Donald K. Mereen, who has had his photographs represented in some of the country's leading salons, explained the make-up of his pictures at many of the meetings.

In this way he aided greatly in understanding how to take good pictures and what constituted a good picture. . . . Keen competition and good sportsmanship were shown in the intra-club contests. One thing of which the club is mighty proud is a darkroom where members can develop their own films. What a feat the club achieved during the second semester! By presenting a skit in the auditorium they created such an interest that the club actually doubled its membership. Frequently this year the Camera Club presented displays of prize-winning photographs for the benefit of the entire student body. Well, there you have it—a full calendar of accomplishments of the Camera Club!

"Fight, fight, fight for dear old Washington! Plunge right through that line!"

How many Washingtonian hearts have thrilled to these lines! Players and spectators alike hold hopes high when our band strikes up the stirring tune of our Washington Fight Song in a crucial moment of a hard football game.

Our own citizens, as well as visitors, viewed with admiration the skillful performance of our marching band during the halves—the result of semi-weekly drill in either Washington or Sherman Park. . . . The rhythmical movement of marching feet, the gleaming instruments, the trig uniforms with shining buttons, and the snappy formations devised by Mr. Robert Erdman—all combined to make our between-halves' entertainment colorful and long-remembered episodes in our football games.

Our concert band is an organization of which Washington is really proud. . . . Our Section II inhabitants will testify to the amount of enthusiasm shown our band during the several "Opera House" programs presented this year. The frequent, thunderous applause, and the bits of melody reaching our first and fourth floor residents were enough to give no end to their curiosity.

One of the highlights of the second semester was the participation of ten selected musicians in a seventy-two piece symphonic band which presented a nation-wide broadcast on Easter morning. . . . Our parents and friends were privileged to hear our concert band at Open House and the spring concert, while neighboring youngsters were favored at the matinee children's concert. Timmie reports (he's also our scout, you know), that the appreciation shown by these outsiders was just as sincere and enthusiastic as our own.

We don't boast a Paderewski, nor a Fritz Kreisler; but we do boast one super-super orchestra. We can't speak of it in terms of Tin Pan Alley, but we can speak of it in terms of Solid Gold Boulevard. . . . You see, Timmie, you couldn't enroll. In order to belong to the orchestra, you have to have a knowledge of all string instruments plus a knowledge of the forms of orchestral music; such as, symphonies, overtures, concert dance suites, concert marches, and other miscellaneous musical forms.

They couldn't use your potato whistle. . . . Although the bulk of the work of the orchestra is serious study of these various compositions, a certain amount of time is given to the preparation of pieces for public appearances. You know these folks really put their heart and soul into their music. You'll find them practicing in the "Opera House in the Second Ward" every eighth hour.

The Orchestra has done quite a bit in the way of concerts this past year. They offered musical entertainment at the Operetta last fall, and for the Senior Class Play in spring. Besides these two performances, you might have heard them at the Children's Concert given for the grades and the junior high school students, or at their annual Spring Concert. . . .

Among the numbers played at the Children's Matinee were "Swedish Coronation March" by Swendsen and the "Gavotte from 'Iphigenia'" by Gluck; while at the Spring Concert they played "Procession of the Mastersingers" by Wagner and Reibold, and "Tales from the Vienna Woods" by Strauss. . . . Of course, that isn't all they've done. That's right, Timmie; they participated in the All-City Easter broadcast. I'm glad to see you take an interest in good music; maybe when you grow up, you can join the orchestra.

Village Choir

Our a cappella choir is, no doubt, familiar to everyone of you. The members represent the cream of the singing talent in our School. The eighty choristers meet one period every day, not only because of their own love of music but also to prepare entertainment for us. You can imagine what a beautiful picture the choir made as it offered its selections in several opera house programs this year. Dressed in striking robes of purple and gold, the chorus treated us to everything from religious chorals to gay ballads. And then, of course, there was the operetta. Who could forget Marian Kaap as the lovely weeping bride, George Main as the solemn judge, or William Kermott as the faithless suitor? All eighty members gave freely of their time and talent to make "Trial by Jury" and the accompanying vaudeville performance an evening long to be remembered.

Singing Society

We all know people who are always either humming some catchy tune or tapping a lively tattoo to the rhythms of some imaginary orchestra. They're the kind who comprise our Music Club. . . . Don't think that all members are Grade A musicians; love of music is the only password needed to join. But the members who do have talent certainly are willing to do their part to entertain the club. . . . The programs this year were made interesting by whistling, harmonizing, and vocal and instrumental selections. At one meeting, Mr. Fred G. Smith himself offered pointers on the tricks of conducting. . . . You see, professional (?) and amateur musicians alike received pleasure and profit from membership. No matter whether the classics or swing music was their dish; something to please every member's taste was served at our Music Club.

"All work and no play makes Timmie a dull boy"—perhaps Tim hasn't the perfectly balanced program, but the Physics students have. Every other Tuesday evening, student physicists find practical application for their studies at the Physics Club—our school's laboratory tech. . . . It's a nice feeling to converse fluently on subjects of the day—it certainly is—and have a good time learning how it's done. Television is an up-and-coming invention, and one entire meeting was devoted to current information on this phenomena. You see, their meetings are informal and "homey," and in that way everyone becomes a part of the club and its resources.

Even the girls enjoy lectures on the storage battery, as they find it much easier to grasp their daily lessons with this repetition. . . . Two boys demonstrated their home-made gas-model airplanes at one meeting; while, at another, a professional man gave a talk on airplanes, not quite that small. Have you ever wondered how your voice goes down and around and comes out on a phonograph record? A manufacturer of records explained this very well and demonstrated the various types of recordings, one night last spring. . . . You can now realize what a well-rounded program of events make up the Physic Club meetings. Some of the alumni members are making use of this practical physics, as it is at present a demanding field with the defense program.

All right, all right, Tim; we won't wait a minute longer before we visit the Chemistry Club. It's just around the corner from the Physics Club. But before we go in, let me warn you not to touch anything without permission. Can't always predict what will happen when two chemicals are mixed together, you know. . . . Now don't be scared; these scientists of ours always handle chemicals intelligently. You'd really enjoy their meetings. They've had quite a variety during the last two semesters; films, demonstrated lectures, field trips to local business establishments, and workshops experiments. This last was a new idea that worked out very successfully.

The chemists bent glass tubing and etched initials on window glass. This experiment didn't have to be written up, either! Wasn't that convenient? . . . I wonder if Mr. Rollin Gettle will give another talk today? After his lecture on paint, everyone felt like arming himself with a brush and slapping some on a garage or clothespole. Or perhaps we'll see a student demonstration, like that time Bill Hambley and Bob Schadel explained flares of colors by burning some chemical mixtures. For a while, it seemed like the Fourth of July. . . . Timothy Washington, are you still hanging back because of the explosives? It is amazing how much noise a little tablet of potassium chlorate soaked with phosphorus can make. Oh, come along. We'll have them promise to play safe today.

I don't expect you to know anything about the Homo sapiens, the Paleozoic, the thallophytes, or bryophytes, Timmie, but if you're interested, come on along with the folks and me and we'll retrace the footprints of the town's naturalists. They're the ones who hike around visiting places of scientific interest in and about our town. . . . We're all aware of nature, but how many of us know anything about the trees and the flowers and the birds that we see almost every day? I should say a very small minority; but, there are other ways of finding out about these things besides burying yourself in a book. Why not belong to the Nature Study Club?

This past year, among other things, the Club took jaunts to the Game Farm at Poynette, Wisconsin; the fish hatchery at Madison; and the Kettle Moraine State Park at Mauthe Lake. Once these scientists get the wanderlust, they'll travel far to view nature. Of course, our county has many places, too. They went to Mitchell Park Conservatory; the laboratories of the Nitragin Company; and the Observatory of the Milwaukee Astronomical Society near Waukesha County. . . . Don't think for one moment that these hikes are just dry, uninteresting lectures. They're regular picnics. You know, lunch and everything. It's natural for you to enjoy nature; it's natural for you to enjoy the Nature Study Club.

Although the Girls' Club is an organization for all girls, Timmie managed to get in on their activities. He himself wasn't so interested as he should have been in the Red Cross work of the Juniors and Seniors, knitting and sewing garments—that is, not until the sub-zero weather came; but he surely was delighted with the cloth animals, scrapbooks, and doll quilts made by the Sophomore girls. It nearly broke his heart when every last one of them was packed and sent to a hospital, a poor negro, or the blind.

As you may have guessed by now, our Girls' Club is divided into three divisions—Sophomore, Junior, and Senior. Each works separately and yet is a part of the grand whole. Welfare work wasn't all that the girls did during the year; Oh, no! Each semester began with the Welcome Party for all divisions. The Sophomore girls held their traditional parties: a balloon dance, a Thanksgiving picnic-lunch (feast) dance, and a tea dance. A game party, a birthday gathering, and a dancing party were heartily enjoyed by the Juniors. (You should have seen Timmie jive!)

The Seniors held an Easter mixer, besides presenting a fashion show for the members of all divisions. The graduating seniors were again given roses on each Farewell Day. A joint honor day was held at the conclusion of each semester, at which time awards were received by girls holding the most points, judged on scholarship and service. Highlighting the first semester was the Fall Frolic; while the annual Springtime, to which the girls invited the boys, climaxed the year's activities. Where else would a girl be a participant in so much fun and companionship than in the Girls' Club?

Hospital

Our hospital is up at the north end of the Third Ward. There you may find two girls in white every hour of the day. They are even on duty during our "town hall" and "young people's meetings." Helen Dreven is the student supervisor. It used to be that only girls were allowed to pass the infirmary door, but that's all changed now. This year the doctor and the nurse moved their headquarters down from the Fourth Ward. That's why sometimes you see an infirmary attendant bring a slip into one of our warehouses for a boy. How comforting it is to know these attendants are on hand—such pleasant, capable girls who give so freely of their service!

Library and Public Service

Timmie, why are you hurrying? Oh, so it's the service department again. What have you lost this time? You don't want anything from the files, but are seeking a duplicate garage key (he means locker key) from the pleasant attendant. . . . While we're near, let's visit the library. However, Timmie, you must be quiet. Look at those citizens heeding the advice of Miss Zartner on the use of the card catalog. She teaches the newcomers all about the reference books, too. Studying hard, aren't they? We intellectuals certainly appreciate our library. Would you believe that books are drawn daily? Now let's glance at our fiction library in the Third Ward. Here we find Tonians (Timmie included) browsing about or studying exhibits from the English department.

As most of us have, Timmie has a real desire to serve Our School. He wants to be a part of that vital body, the Student Citizens, who aid our faculty-aldermen and mayor-principal in keeping this community running smoothly. He realizes that, although time and effort are employed, the citizen-monitor gains through loyal and unselfish work. A social worker develops poise, has the opportunity to read character and study his fellow citizens, and really learns the meaning of the word service. . . . Timmie has decided to investigate all services before selecting one. He could be one of the traffic cops (hall monitors), of whom there are a total of 109 stationed at 13 posts during the nine periods of the day. Under the direction of Chief Alison McCain, Supervisor Laurel Thiele, and Assistant Betty Clodius; he would maintain order, assist visitors, and check garages (lockers). . . . The warehouse clerks, directed by Miss Ida Kuehnalt, take inventory and maintain order in warehouses (study halls) during the eight periods of the day. . . . The homeroom monitors take inventory in their home rooms. . . . The auditorium brigade, who keep order in the Section II rooms while the other section is in auditorium, also help the cogs of the school machinery to run smoothly. . . . The cafeteria crew of 30 under Mr. B. B. Burling help in the cafes. . . . The advisement monitors serve Miss Helen Green, Mr. Alison McCain, Miss Clara Nappe, and Mr. Hasso Pestalozzi in the Common Council. . . . And the Office monitors, whom we see many a time collecting the census and summoning pupils to headquarters, assist Miss Sylvia Brooks in many ways.

Ladies' Aid

You now see the Home Economics Club, one of the busiest in our school, if it's possible to find one more active than any other. This is where foresighted girls begin early training for times ahead. . . . The club, according to its custom, inspired new members at an impressive, solemn candelighting ceremony. The spirit of Home Economics recited a creed as initiates lit small candles from seven colored, larger branches. A red candle, of course, symbolized health; orange, the home; a yellow candle was a torch of wisdom; green meant service; and lavender glowed for beauty. . . . If interested in their culinary achievements, you might have attended a meeting in honor of Saint Patrick, which was topped off with a pot-luck supper. Or if your clothes needed rejuvenating, "Personality Wardrobe" was the thing to see. . . . Squeezed in between regular activities were many conventions and rallies of state and local home economics clubs. The girls contributed toward an International Scholastic Fund to help some foreign girl study home economics in the United States. Helpfulness toward others came very close to home when needy children in our school district were guests at the club Christmas party. Every member was responsible for giving one child a small gift and taking him home. Wasn't that a fine thing to do?

Listen as they sing their theme song "Strive for the Hardest and the Best"—Washington homemakers in the bud.

Now, when the world is upside down, caught in the coils of Mars, the light of Democracy must burn ever brighter. Our School is attempting to do its share in keeping the torch aflame. We citizens at Washington are firm believers in democracy and look to the Common Council as our representative governing body. . . . Our Council members hold responsible positions, for they lead us in all social and philanthropic work. Interest in the Council sponsored Toy Drive led all of Washington to search for toys to be rejuvenated by the W. P. A. workers. . . . The Council was behind those unforgettable mat dances, too, at which Timmie could always be found. . . .

The dancing classes were so popular the Council was optimistic and had a class for experienced dancers as well as beginners. . . . Next fall's contest will reveal the products of the cheerleaders' class. . . . After an extensive survey with recordings of disturbing areas in our corridors, a successful anti-boisterousness campaign ended with the noise reduced to a minimum. . . . The point system committee is in charge of our intricate scheme of point awards; the house committee checks to see that our rooms are kept in good repair; and with seventeen similar groups, you can see how important the Council is in Our School life. We are thankful that here we may lay the foundation for a government of, by, and for the people.

"Extra! Extra! Extra! Read all about it!" How often you and Timmie and I have been wakened from a sound sleep by these words, and have wondered what the latest news could be! Arousing this ever-present curiosity in their customers is one of the Newsies' first lessons. . . . Our Street Traders' Club at Washington was organized years ago to stop violations of Street Trade acts, such as delivering papers without a badge.

The fellows are proud to join this club that aims toward character building and citizenship, and offers such an excellent preparation in intelligent living. They can also boast of brains among them, meaning the traders who have been able to stay on the Newsboys' Honor Roll and lead in other activities at school, too. . . . The boys have made history at Washington this year by sponsoring their first dance! They proved to us that they could leave all traces of business behavior behind and become very entertaining socialites when the time and place afforded it.

Newsboys

Such arranging and rearranging as went into the semi-formal "Paper Ball" I never did see! Such clever decorations! The main feature in each gym was a large paper ball; strips of newspaper adorned the four walls. And those dance programs! They were in the form of miniature four-page newspapers. A headline on the front page announced the dance, while the committee members and officers were named on the back. But this time, the main news in the paper was on the inside pages—meaning, of course, the dance program.

Regular programs during each week always had some special feature. John Hoffman, pianist, and those masters of the harmonica, the Mayer twins, often performed for the boys. Sometimes there was an interesting speaker, or a wrestling match where they could watch the contestants toss and squirm to their hearts' content. . . . So the next time you see a Newsie come whistling by your door, you'll know what it means to belong to a club that helps you earn while you learn.

Washington

The curtain rises on the fifth act of Our School. Here you'll see daily scenes like these: the football squad working out on the field; the track men rustling the cinders on the path; the cagers wearing out baskets; the wrestlers grunting on the mats; the swimmers diving into "Ye old swimming hole"; the girls playing badminton, basketball, volleyball, and every other type of activity. It's nice to know Our School is tops; we're proud of our record in sports. Yes, sir, it isn't every school that can hold the football championship three years running and make records in track and basketball at the same time. Of course, we can't always do it. We give a lot of credit to our coaches—they're the ones behind it all. The fellows certainly work hard, too. It means something to be a "star" at Washington, but what really counts is that all our "stars" shine together. . . . See here, Timmie, if you're going to tie knots in those shoestrings, you'll have to resign as mascot.

Such mascot may cost us a touchdown. Some heap big football player has made a name for himself in those clod hoppers, just as a lanky runner made a name for himself and our school in a worn-out, battered pair of track shoes. . . . By the way, folks, our athletic field isn't just another plot of grass—that's where we develop our supermen.

Opening up the 1940 season where they left off, the Tonian pigskin brigade displayed an impressive array of passing and running power, to defeat a determined West Allis eleven. The fancy stepping of Wally Dreyer, co-captain, and Bill Heinkel's plunging shared the evening's honors in the first game of the season.

Superb defensive play and a sparkling running game gained the local eleven a thrilling fourth quarter victory over the Red Raiders of Wauwatosa, 7-0. A poor punt in the fourth quarter led to a thrilling touchdown in four plays. The shifty running of Milt Becker accounted for most of the yardage for the Purgolders.

The Washington-Tech game in North Stadium inaugurated night football games in the city conference. Coach Liz exhibited his bag of tricks when he crossed the experts with a brilliant passing attack in place of the usual power plays. After the tallying was over, the locals were on top 27-7, due largely to Washington's own Herber-to-Hutson, Becker to Powers.

With an inspired Custer eleven proving scrappier than expected, the Tonian pigskin inability to cash in on the breaks beat the abruptly in a bitterly fought deadlock, 14-14. brigade's 15-game winning streak ended Purgolders. Injuries to first stringers did not help matters any.

With all the elasticity of an India rubber man the Purple squad bounded back to vent their feeling, over what they considered a defeat, upon an almost helpless Bay View eleven, 28-7 Substituting frequently and freely, Coach Blackburn gave his first stringers a rest, but still saw his Purple battalion overwhelm the scrappy Viewites.

A highly-favored Lincoln eleven tasted bitter defeat at the hands of a spirited Washington eleven to the tune of 21-14. The tricky passing of Milt Becker and the fiery spirit of the line completely outclassed the Lincolmites. The stellar play of Doyle and Powers was also a contributing factor in the victory.

Washington suffered one of the major upsets of the season when it bowed before the cellar-ridden but inspired Blue and White of North 21-6. From start to finish, it was North's game as they capitalized on every break while chalking up three touchdowns to the Purple's one.

Although shorn of their title, the Purgold machine wound up their schedule with a 28-0 rout of a stubborn King eleven. This brought to a close a hot and cold season which saw the local three-year conference reign ended. At the close of the season, the team rewarded Art Isleb for his stellar play at center by electing him captain for the 1941 season.

Block That Kick

The Tonian Bees got off to a flying start by setting back a fighting West Milwaukee squad, 13-0. The suburbanites were little match for the excellent teamwork of the Tonians. The defensive and offensive play of season.

The local Jarvies made it two straight over a fighting West Allis eleven when they beat the locals sparkled and gave promise of a good them soundly to the tune of 19-0. The next managed to eke out a well-earned decision over a scrappy and heavy varsity eleven from Pulaski, 6-0.

Hecht's charges came through to defeat an exceedingly fast and high spirited St. Benedict team, 20-14. The Hechtmen were forced to turn on the full power with the backs, Peters and Lambrecht, cutting loose and charging over the goal line.

Carrying on where they left off, the amazing locals humbled a supposedly strong and fast Tosa squad, 19-0. With but seven minutes left to play, Karbowski, Mazerowsky, and Peters shook loose to strike pay dirt for the home boys.

Using a joint Bee-Soph brigade, the local Gettlemen rang up a 30-0 triumph over a completely outplayed West Milwaukee eleven. Continuing their winning ways, the Sophs went on to defeat West Division, 6-0, and a stubborn Lincoln eleven, 9-0.

Over a somewhat slow Wauwatosa squad, the Sophs served up their fourth straight win 12-0. They closed the season unscored upon and undefeated, by turning back a Tech greenie team with a brilliant running and passing attack.

Warming up
A bit of routine

The local thinlies opened the season with a smashing victory in their initial encounter, trimming East by a wide margin of 19 to 43 at the Washington Park course. The Purgolders snared first, third, fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, and ninth places in their decisive victory. Ken Olson, Oberly, and Peterson took the first three Purgold top spots.

The schedule was evened up one apiece when a strong West Allis contingent overwhelmed the locals 18-37 at the Washington Park layout. Ken Nelson maintained his consistently fine running by nabbing third spot behind Winkel of West Allis, who broke the course record.

The Washington harriers split dual meets with Bay View and West at Washington Park. They decisively defeated the Westmen by 24-31 but were nosed out by the thickness of a sweatshirt by the hilldalers of Bay View, 27-28. Nelson, Oberly, Peterson, and Fortlage placed high for the Tonians.

Snatching up the same place won last year, Coach Sprague's aggregate took sixth place in intersectional cross-country tourney at Janesville. Bob Peterson headed the list of Purgolders finishing the race, garnering twenty-sixth place, and Ken Nelson followed right behind.

Led by Ken Nelson to the finish, the Tonian harriers copped fourth place in the annual City Conference cross-country meet held at Mitchell Park. Nelson placed thirteenth, followed by Co-Captains Peterson and Oberly, in sixteenth and nineteenth places respectively.

Striding with the state's best, the local thin-clads snared sixth spot in the State cross-country meet at the Grant Park course.

The local harriers split two meets when they defeated Lincoln by a score of 26-30 and were decisively outdistanced by South Milwaukee, 45-18.

Top Row: Coach Derrwaldt, R. Drake, J. Peterson, G. Marthen, B. Wagner, G. Krueger, R. Mueller, W. Pohle, D. Porter, K. North. First Row: R. Luening, S. Orzoff, H. Pollay, J. Kearns, D. Staver, C. Harris, A. Mueller.

The tankmen opened their second semester with two more dousings, one at the hands of a strong West Allis squad 18-55 and the other to the Wauwatosa state champions by a 16-57 score. Although handed a serious defeat the locals garnered one first, two seconds, and five thirds against the strong Tosa brigade.

Completing the dual competition, the local finmen dropped two more meets, this time to a strong Cudahy team and a return match with Milwaukee University School by 28-45 and 15-58 respectively. Leading the locals' scoring in both meets were Grant Krueger and Armand Mueller.

Up against a strong team the Tonian aqua brigade dropped a hard fought match with a powerful North aggregate by a 20-53 score at the North Avenue natatorium. Five seconds and five thirds enabled the locals to place in the scoring column.

Totaling 11 points to better their previous position, the Purgolders placed fifth behind Tech, Bay View, Pulaski, and North in the closest meet of the season the Purple finmen bowed to a West Milwaukee aggregate by a 28-45 score. The locals put up stiff resistance until the last three events, when they failed to place.

Despite a gallant resistance, the local finmen were flogged down to defeat in the opening splash against North 58-15. Letterman Harry Pollay snared the only first for the locals in the fifty-yard free style with a fast twenty-seven and eight tenths second time.

Against stiff competition, the Tonian swimmers dropped two meets more to make it three in a row. One was a hotly contested battle to the Blue and Gray of Lincoln, 33-40; and the other was to the highly touted Tech squad by a 16-67 tally. Pollay, Krueger, Drake, Marthen, and Kearns garnered the points for the Tonians.

Unable to find their bearings the locals were sunk in two more meets by Marquette and Shorewood by 29-44 and 12-66 scores respectively. The relay team of the locals garnered the only first for Washington when the enemy squad of Shorewood jumped the gun and was disqualified. The remaining points were scored by Pollay, Krueger, and Kearns in both meets.

The local finmen sank lower at the hands of the lightning attack of the Milwaukee University powerhouse as the locals took a 21-52 defeat. The Tonians scored two firsts, two seconds, and five third spots in the defeat.

Copping an almost unanimous win, the Purgold matmen opened their season by pinning the West Milwaukee grapplers, 28-5. Proving their consistency, the locals went on to clean up South's grunTERS, 31-10. A determined Racine Park High aggregation was the next victim, and the everpowerful Tonian squad made them "give" by a score of 28-8.

With six first spots to their credit the undefeated Powersmen came out well on top in a quadrangular meet with South, West Milwaukee, and Racine Washington Park. Copping 37½ points, the locals were far ahead of their closest rival, South, which garnered 26 points.

After overpowering the West Milwaukee squad for the third time this season, 25-10, the Purgold grunt and groan aggregation took a trip upstate to scrap with a strong Neenah team, which was easily downed, 32-8.

Entering the deciding battle, the State Meet, Coach John Power's confident wrestling squad came through in true Washington fashion, grappling its way to six individual championship posts and retaining its undisputed state title for the second consecutive year. The Tonian matmen piled up 42 points, placing themselves far above their rivals, the closest of which was West Milwaukee with 21 points.

The following proud musclemen boast well-earned individual championships: Paul Steinbracher, 95 pounds; Keith Connor, 105 pounds; Dan Nettersheim, 125 pounds; Lowell Oberly, 125-pound champ last year and 135-pound victor this year; Art Isleb, 180 pounds; and George Hekkers 200-pound division.

It took a scrappy, hard-fighting semester 4 basketball squad to show the intramural groups how basketball should be played. Mr. Holbrook's sponsor group merited the victory they won over Mr. Powers's semester 5 group, 24-21. A new system whereby the sophs and juniors were represented respectively forced Mr. Holbrook's and Mr. Powers's groups to cop both the semester and class crowns. The new champs took Mr. Sachy's group for the class crown, while the runners-up had to take Mr. Cook's five for the championship.

Entering their '40-'41 basketball season, Washington's city champions put up a stiff front against a fiery Red and White five of Wauwatosa but were subdued in the final stanza by the suburbans, 20-17, in spite of a brilliant scoring attack led by Howie Helmle.

The Purgold quintet was forced to drop their initial city contest to a powerful King squad, 25-16. Seeming unable to hit their stride until late in the second period, the locals again bowed in defeat to the more experienced crews of East and South, 30-23 and 42-25.

Shaking off their losing streak, the Purple and Gold hoopsters turned on full pressure and chalked up a victory against North's cagers, 24-18.

Dropping a very close tilt to Bay View, 26-24, the Tonian cagers, never discouraged, faced a speedy quintet of lanky hardwooders from Proviso High, Illinois. The Illinois giants, however, hammered at the local basket and outplayed our boys by the wide margin of 41-23.

A seemingly revived squad of Humkemen opened the second stanza of their hardwood season by trouncing a fiery Juneau brigade, 30-23. The Purgolds, however, were in turn caught off balance in an upset by Pulaski, 31-19. A stubborn Purple squad provided many headaches for a confident Boys' Tech five in one of the wildest games of the season. The conference-leading Boilermakers barely eked out a victory, 24-21.

With three victories and two defeats the B quintet wound up their first semester schedule with a satisfactory record of better than .500. The Purgolders downed Wauwatosa, Pulaski and Pio Nono, losing only to determined hoopmen of King and East.

Opening their season, our B cagers split two games by outshooting Custer's five, 25-22, then bowing to a fiery Pio Nono squad, 15-12. A thriller with West's hoopsters resulting in an overtime period found the Purgold quintet trailing by three points, 33-30.

With a win over East, 23-18, and a loss to Marquette High, 23-19, Coach Blackburn's cagers completed an exceptionally good season by holding Custer's hoopmen to five points, 28-5, and by walking off with the honors at West, 39-21.

BECK

After two years on the "B" squad, Jimmy Beck finally pulled through in his senior year to become a fast and tricky forward. Although only 5'7", Beck was one of the best forwards on the team.

CROSS

The best rebound artist on the quintet was Bill Cross. Bill made more points on rebounds than any other player. The loss of McGee upon graduation was felt, but Bill proved himself capable of filling the center position.

HELMLE

Howard Helmle was one of the returning lettermen. His experience was a decided help to the squad, and he always came through in a tight spot. His play was always scrappy, and he was one of the leading scorers.

KINDT

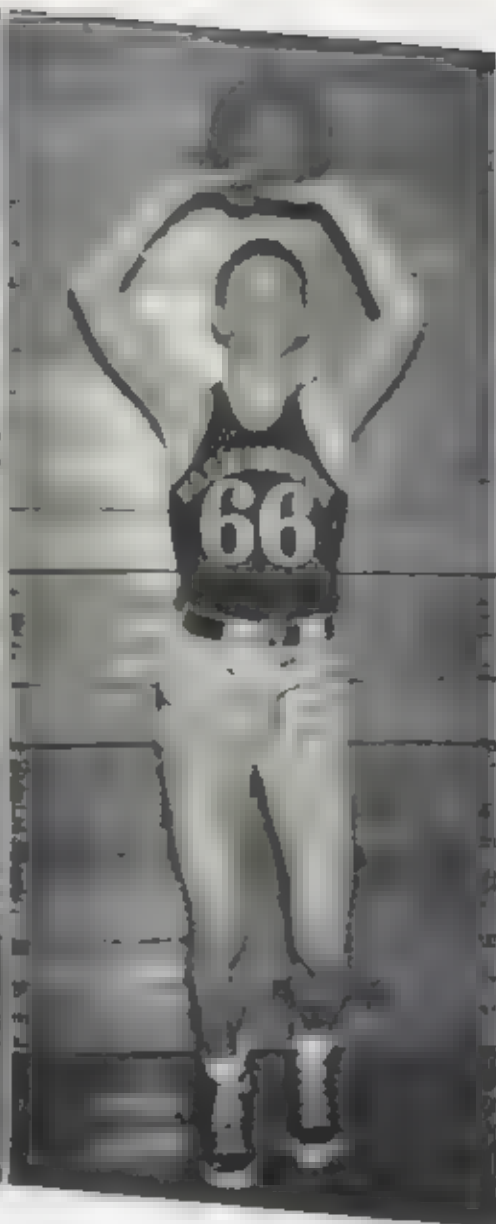

Don Kindt was the only sophomore to make a major letter. While Don's shooting was below average, his defensive work was outstanding. He showed signs of developing into an all-around performer.

One of the steadiest boys on the squad this year was Milt Becker, who graduated at the mid-year period. His loss was a severe blow to the hopes of the team. He had a year of experience as forward on the '40 championship team.

The tallest man on the team was Jim Mc Gee. "Maggie's" one hand push shots were deadly and his work at center was a mainstay. Jim's mid-year graduation was a decided loss to the team.

Ed Magnus was an all-around steady player. His long shots were accurate enough to be a real menace to opponents. His floor work was well above the average. This, together with his steadiness, earned him his letter.

Jerry Robbins came up to the first team from the "B" squad. He was unable at first to hit his stride, but as the season went on he was frequently called into play and showed much improved form.

Roger Scholbe graduated from the second squad to land a regular berth on the varsity squad as a good forward. Rog still has another semester and will help to form a strong nucleus for next year's squad.

For the '40-'41 season, Becker was moved to guard where his all-around floor work and defensive play were a mainstay of the team's performance. He was fast and alert, and quick on difficult shots.

TENNIS CLUB

President	William Haezel
Vice-president	Robert Stuckert
Secretary	Virginia Holton
Treasurer	Joan Fisher
Sgt. at Arms	Kenneth Pollan
Comm. Rep.	Barbara Jones

Making good use of the fair fall weather, the Tennis Club members, over 100 strong, sponsored a fall tournament. Practically all of the members participated in this annual event. Playing in this tournament helped returning emblem winners to keep in practice and Mr. Froehlich to discover likely prospects for the tennis team.

As soon as the snow melted off the courts, the members were playing off matches in the spring tourney. This feature is always watched with great interest by the club director, for the winner and runner-up have excellent chances of getting places on the tennis team.

Nice serve, Bobby!

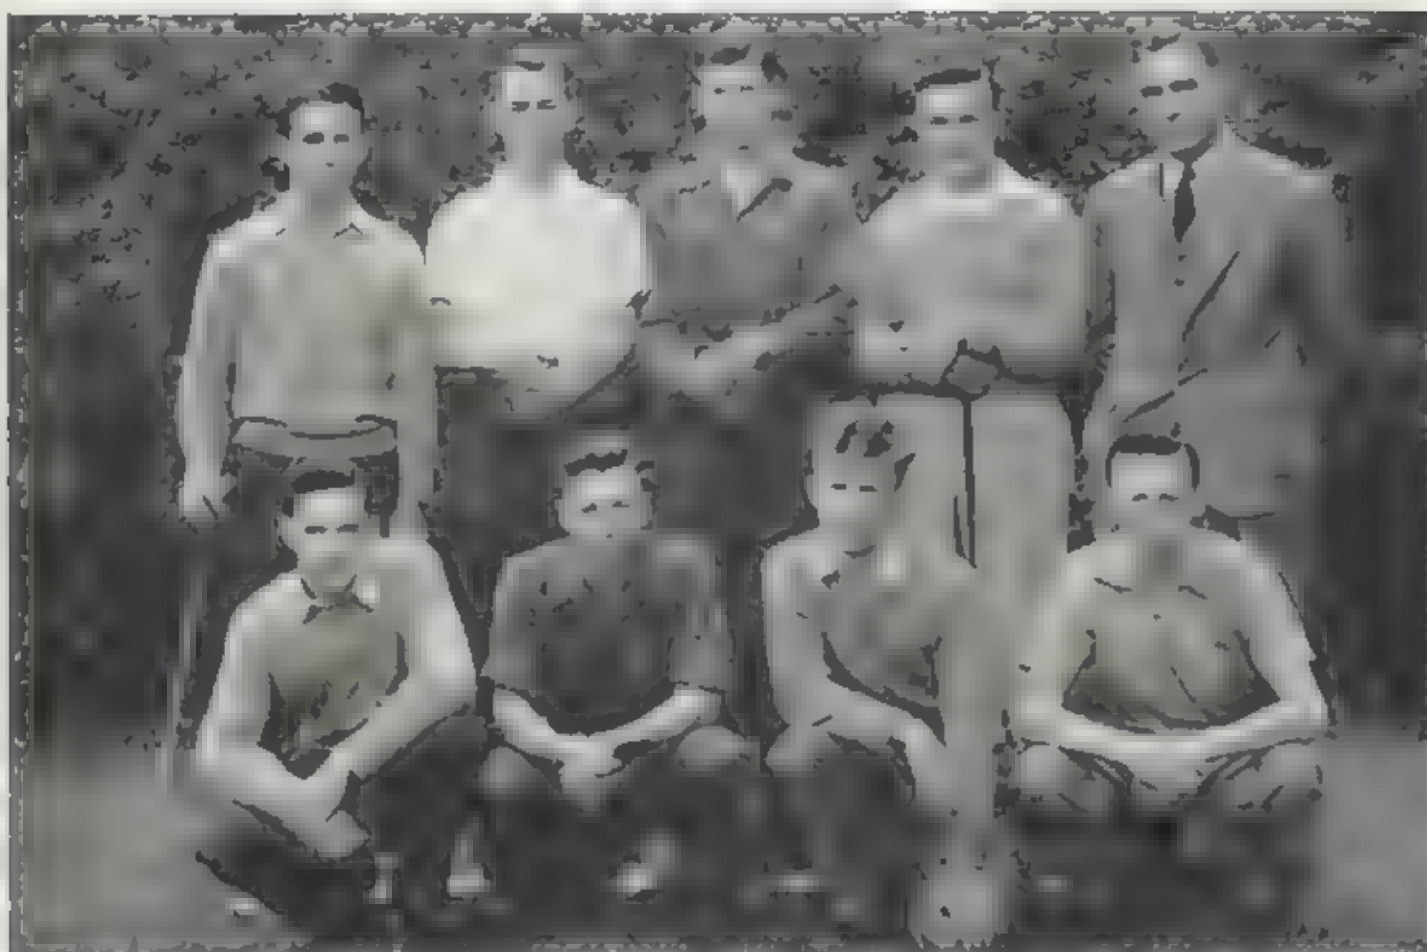

Mr. Froehlich, T. Kaufman, R. Froemming, F. Goeb, J. Walt, R. Epstein, W. Henkel, R. Stuckert

From the beginning of the season, Mr. Froehlich's charges showed promises of a fine season with Eugene Goeb, Bob Stuckert, Bob Epstein, James Walt, and Bob Froemming more than filling the shoes of graduate Neil Mueller. Through the season the play of the boys was sparkling and brilliant; and with a few more breaks the boys would have been sporting gold tennis balls. A few lapses of form and bad judgment in some cases was responsible for disappointment.

The Tonians put on a gallant finish by whipping North 5-0, but they missed the city title by one game and finished second. In the State Meet, Washington garnered 11 points, tying for sixth in a field of thirty-seven schools. Bob Stuckert, a favorite in the meet, was eliminated in the third round when Peterson, former state boys' champion defeated him, 6-4, 6-4. Bob Epstein pulled the meet's biggest upset when he defeated Dingwall of Juneau 6-2, 6-4. Jim Walt and Gene Goeb reached the quarter finals in the doubles field of thirty-six teams before dropping out.

Victory number one was rung up by the mashie wielders over a Marquette High squad in the first competition of the season. Jack Kearns turned in the lowest score of the day with a sparkling 83, followed by Dick Flicker with 84.

The local squad next handed Shorewood a 364-394 defeat. Again leading the field was Jack Kearns with an 80. A surprising sophomore prospect, Paul Reichardt, followed with an 84. Another conference win was added when Lincoln was handed a decided setback by a 73 stroke margin.

The first defeat at the hands of an experienced M.U.S. team, 366-372. Coerper led with a 41 card, followed by Kearns with a 42. The Purgolds bounced back to snatch a close one from Marquette 167-169. One step nearer to the championship came with the defeat of King, 353-395.

The Tonians closed a highly successful season with wins over Menomonee Falls and Custer. The latter by a 342-376 score brought the city crown. The season marked Blackburn's first as golf coach.

Top Row: Coach Hecht, D. Powers, E. Scharch, A. Isleb, H. Lynch, W. Cross, R. Freund, J. Bierce, R. Becker, R. Dunst, F. Murphy, R. Gudmundson, I. Pukran, L. Doyle, V. Opening what was destined to become a highly successful season, the local Purplegold track squad looked none too impressive as they received their first setback in three years at the hands of South. For three years the Tonians had reigned as kings. The past two years had seen them crowned State, City, and Waukesha Relays champions, besides placing third in the Proviso Relays at Chicago.

The loss of Eannelli, Anderson, Reiss, Oakley, and Huettl was severely felt, but with a strong nucleus in Wehner, Powers, Demeter and Campbell, Coach Hecht had a promising season before him. With the addition of such men as Doyle, Dunst, Ethier, Bierce, Lambrecht, Cross, and Becker things were pretty bright about the cinder oval.

Possibly the South defeat was enough to bring the boys back to normal, for it was a great shock to the Purplegolders to see what should have been a victory turned to a loss by a driving track team from South. Though the Cardinals slammed only the mile run, wins in the distance runs, hurdles, and field events piled up tallies which the local strength in the dashes failed to offset.

Bob Hayward, a junior, stamped himself as a definite asset in the weights when he took a first in the shot put with a distance of 47 feet and a first in the discus with a heave of 127 feet 6 inches. Sharing the Purple honors was the half-mile relay team of Don Wehner, Bruce Campbell, Bill Cross, and Jerry Demeter, who crossed the line in just .5 of a second more than the city record.

Off to a slow start in the field events, the Purgold team got rolling on the track as the quartet of Lambrecht, Lynch, Dunst, and Doyle came out ahead in the 480-yard shuttle relays. Cutting .4 of a second off the old record, the 440-yard relay squad again brought home the baton first. Wehner, Cross, Campbell, and Demeter cut off .8 of a second in the half-mile relay to aid to the Tonian cause. Another record time of 59.3 won the 504-yard low hurdles. ## STATE MEET

Exhibiting true form, a strong brigade of Tonian Spikeshods captured their third consecutive State Meet title at Madison. Coach Hecht's charges placed in eight events and took four firsts out of these. It was not until the results of the 200-yard dash, 200 low hurdles, pole vault, and 880-yard relay came in that the outcome was certain.

Leo Doyle took two firsts in the low and high hurdles to take top honors. Jerry Demeter easily won in the 200-yard dash with Bill Cross finishing third. Duane Powers was at his best as he tied for first in the pole vault with a height of 12' 6". Don Wehner and Bob Hayward, and the 880-yard relay added to Washington's total with points in the dashes and weights.

The officers of this association are as follows: Edith Hennig, president; Carol Blank, vice president; Carlyn Blank, secretary; Virginia Rahn, treasurer; and Ruth Brosius, student council representative. The critics, of course, are Miss Havens and Miss Roesling.

Participation in all sports occurs after school, and the girls may take part in any or all of the above-mentioned athletics. Points are awarded for activity in all sports, and extra points are given for championships, second places, and positions on the all-star teams.

Annual tournaments are run in all sports, with practice periods available before the start of actual tournament play. All tournaments are elimination with participants dropped upon losing their first matches.

ALL-STARS

The annual custom of presenting a gold medal to the girl with the highest points and a silver one to the one with the next highest proved especially interesting this year. Upon tallying the points, the medals were awarded to Carlyn Blank, who had a total of 921 points, and Carol Blank, whose points added to 880. Both of them have participated in almost every sport that has been offered, besides, during their senior year, serving as secretary and vice-president respectively.

This year's all-around girl, who was elected by her fellow members on the merit of her participation in many sports, is Edith Hennig. Edith, to top her career as an active member of Wahiat, served as president during her senior year. Her name has been engraved on the principal's trophy in recognition of her fine work.

VOLLEYBALL

Our champion volleyball team this year included some of the best all-round athletes of the school—Pearl Reineck, Carol and Carlyn Blank, Jewel Sladek, Edith Hennig, and others who are just as well-known around Washington for their athletic activities. The Krause girls, Virginia and Doris, together with Lucille Wolter were prominent members of the runner-up team.

PING PONG

After an exciting period of elimination, the ping pong season closed in a burst of triumph for the Blank twins, who fought their duel with paddles, Carol finally emerging the victor over Carlyn.

It's on it's way in—one point!

BASKETBALL

Scores of the games showed that this basketball season was exciting all the way through. They were close in almost every game, the winning team coming out on top by only a few points.

The championship game was won by Captain Goeckermann's team by a score of 6-0 against the team of Captain Reineck. Carol Blank scored all six points.

SHUFFLEBOARD

Pushing those discs is harder than it looks. There are a great many "don'ts" that must be considered; don't push it too hard, don't get it on the lines, don't get it into the squares at the base of the triangle marked "ten off."

Matches were each fifteen minutes in length. The champion was Carlyn Blank.

Don't spill that water!
Keep your eyes on that bird!

BADMINTON

All eyes were on the bird as this year's doubles badminton tournament was on its way. All matches were timed, each match being twenty minutes long.

The team of Carol and Carlyn Blank came out on top, winning all its matches with a margin of forty points or more. Runners-up in this tournament were Pearl Reineck and Jewel Sladek, a team which also won its other matches with quite a few points to spare. Another outstanding team was the combination of Betty Goeckermann and Edith Hennig, with Betty looking exceptionally good.

SWIMMING

The mermaids had their day at the swimming meet held in the school tank. All strokes were used by the swimmers. The events included the relay, the free style, the backstroke, and the novelty races. Entrants in the novelty race were required to swim the tank carrying a glass of water on a paper plate.

This year's most outstanding swimmer was Joan Janotta, who was always far ahead of the others. The winner of the free style was Marion Haller, who placed first and second in the free style and backstroke, respectively.

Made it — and plenty to spare!

On your mark! Get set! Go!

TRACK

A dash — a jump — a throw — and the 1941 track season was off with a bang. Activities included in this year's work were the 65-yard dash, the broad-jump, and the high-jump, and the backward basketball throw.

In the 65-yard dash, Arline Brill and Pearl Reineck made the best time—8 seconds.

Two of the most promising high-jumpers were Nancy Bornfleth and Jeanette Eberbach, who skimmed over the bamboo without apparent effort.

Pearl Reineck threw the basketball 51 feet to top Margaret Gutman's 49. Those girls certainly have power behind their throws.

The school record of 8 feet, 3 inches was topped by Dorothy Dummer, who far surpassed all competitors by jumping 8 feet, 4 inches in the standing broad-jump.

Two practice nights were allowed previous to the track meet, and the girls were forced to pass requirements in preliminary try-outs before they were permitted to enter the meet. Each girl could enter two events; either the broad jump or the high jump, and in addition, either the dash or the basketball throw.

And now for the final and closing act. In this panorama will come scene upon scene of candid shots; for Timmie is such a sly little fellow, he gets many a stolen snap when people think he's too dumb to know what's going on. Act Six is really a grand finale; there are certain special things to look for. . . . Don't miss "Dopey" of the Homecoming Skit; Jean Faber, as the weeping Cinderella of Camera Club fame; and Kenneth Paape, narrator of the Year book Skit, Our School. The home students will recall this excellent all-around movie of school life—the best way of showing how we live. Then there are those clever little Blank twins; I doubt whether anyone could replace them as rollicking clowns in our Yearbook Skit. And of course, look in the Nature Study Club's program for Shirley Wiegand, as the flighty young lady who always managed to say the wrong thing at the right time. . . . The A Cappella's annual contribution, the operetta, "Trial by Jury," certainly deserves the highest recognition. You will find scene upon scene of this popular event featuring its stars: Marian Kaap, as the blushing bride; George Mann, the romantic judge, and Bill Kermott, the ungrateful bridegroom. Boo! . . . And speaking of "hits," is there any student present who could forget the Senior Skit—the upper classmen's farewell production? You will meet many participants: Jay Joslyn, interpreting Abe Lincoln in Illinois; Betty Brinkman, saying farewell for all the seniors; and Eugene Goeb, the splendid narrator of Our Class. . . . Those informal shots I was speaking about include varied activities. There's Bob (Flash) Gordon coaching the cheerleaders' class—he's especially interested in the young lady; and the literary-society presidents looking each other over for the exciting Intersociety battle. You shouldn't have missed that, folks! Would you care to see the other informal shots of the wrestling, swimming, and track teams, and the football heroes? Now wait, girls! . . . There are other scenes you will want to see that will bring back the good old days, such as, the heavy line of sophomores at the bookstore getting their supplies for the great adventure, and Mr. Balzer's "always busy" office staff preparing the juniors for the last mile of school life. Don't overlook the Girls' Club display—they've helped many a needy family at Christmas, Thanksgiving, or Easter with their fine donations. . . . Snatch a few moments from your busy life; take time to enjoy this act and live through those spirited months from September to June, the happiest years of our life.

Well, folks, the curtain's about to come down on this production. It falls upon the last work of the seniors. Yes, they're leaving, Timmie, going out into the world to make a name for themselves. Let's look in on a senior saying farewell for them.

"Oh, I don't want to graduate! I don't want to leave Washington. I always thought I'd be so happy when this day came, but I'm not—really. I wonder who'll have my seat in homeroom next year. Oh, I wish—I wish I could slide into it once more—just once more—to live again those grand days that seemed so commonplace to us at the time. Those thrilling games the fellows played; the gay music; and the marching bands; the programs by the A Cappella choir—the glorious dances; and all the rest. Oh, Washington, thank you so much for all the happiness you have given us. These have been wonderful years—more wonderful than we realized."
